Introduction

C4 WORLDWIDE A Message from our Chairman

Slide 3

DR Rawson
Chairman & CEO

C4 has several programs that have been designed to get Americans working and give ALL Americans the ability to own their own home. Home ownership is one of the cornerstones of the American Dream. However, too often the "Dream" is just that.

In the years after 1972 we've seen home prices soar. While income has also risen including the minimum wage, we've experienced an economy that uniquely rewards those that "have" disproportionately from others in our society. No one is suggesting that the "risk vs. reward" system be changed or abolished. What our program does suggest is that there may be another way. Given today's financial circumstances, there must be a better way.

*Our program is designed to create jobs and enable ALL Americans to home a home. Further, it will help us stabilize our city and rural communities. When rural, our program will help them return to a time when they were nearly or completely self sufficient. We must save our rural communities from becoming ghost towns. With your help, we can do it. As a corporation, we pledged 95% of all our profits from residential and commercial real estate to this program. Please join with us.

Interestingly 23% of all family are single parents with children. For one reason or another, only one parent is raising the children in the home. Statistics show that most of these family lack stability. Most have little sense of communities or the chance to develop long term ties to the cities and towns in which they live.

Home ownership is typically not available to this group of people because of income and the availability of housing in their price range.

The expense of raising children continues to raise. Adding the cost of housing to the list of expenses is difficult at best. Home ownership continues to elude this segment of our society.

The availability of low priced homes could enable these families towards home ownership. This would provide stability and the pride of owning part of America.

Vietnam, Gulf I, Bosnia, Gulf 2, Afghanistan, Iraq and for any other reason that a man or woman is disabled while serving in the military.

This is the very least we can do for those who protect the freedom that we all enjoy. They should always be given the highest respect from each of us as grateful citizens.

Available homes can and will be modified.

Depression, migraine headaches, bi-polar, brain injuries and so many other mental issues that prevent a head of household from working, full time, outside the home.

In some cities, the wait for a home to fill their needs is measured in multiple years, in spite of the fact that there is government funding that will pay for their housing.

There should be no waiting.

83% of those losing homes today are seniors age 62+. This age group is once again paying for the life style we were all enjoying before the 4th quarter of 2008.

Federal programs combined with our Home Savers program will keep seniors in their homes or provide homes for them. Many at little or no cost to the seniors.

... “ain’t that America . . . by John Melloncamp. What we’re really saying is that we want America to be what we grew up with, what we know.

Some of the best minds and talent in America are from small towns. These are now threatened because of the lack of jobs. Main Street, U.S.A. needs help and our asset based analysis could help make these communities self sufficient, again.

Many people are defined by their work. The absence of work creates many new pressure on society besides the obvious lack of money.

In order to turn our economic circumstance around, we must created jobs. Not all the answers have to come from government.

This is a social initiative using Internet Social Networks to give the people a voice. From here will come answers and opportunities.
